

Construction Update for the Week of November 4

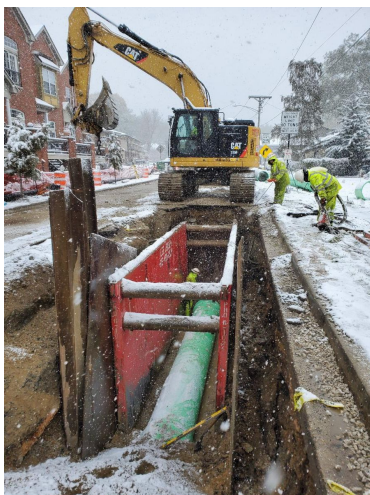

Last week, crews braved inclement weather to continue with the installation of the mainline sanitary sewer on North Harrison Street.

This week, mainline sanitary sewer work will continue on North Harrison Street with crews hoping to reach Sunny Drive by the end of the week. Residents within this construction area will be able to access their properties from the north or south, depending on the current sewer installation location. All other traffic should continue to follow the detour to access their properties

Please continue to be safe and follow the traffic control devices that have been installed along the corridor.

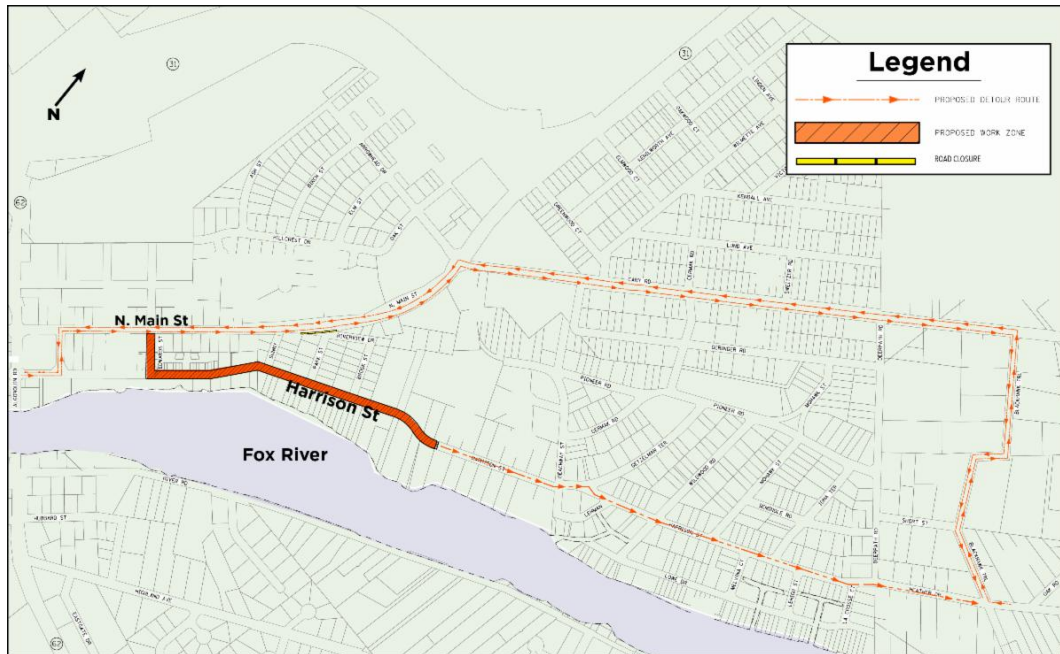

Remember, local businesses in the area remain open during construction! They can be accessed from the south off Algonquin Road or Front Street.
